Thank you for your letter inquiring about the possibility of employment with the Central Intelligence Agency.

For your information, CIA is essentially a civilian agency, and the few positions available to military personnel are key positions only. Consequently, all our available vacancies must be filled by civilians.

When your tour of duty with the army is finished, I would suggest that you get in touch with us again if you are still interested in employment, and at that time we will be glad to give your application consideration and endeavor to place you in any available vacancy where your qualifications may fit.

Yours very truly,

A - Dis 11/20
